

interiors

COVET

For its latest design collaboration, Granada Tile has introduced 13 new pieces by celebrated interior designer Paul Schatz, including Navajo and Oblique. Taking cues from his travels throughout Latin America and the Mediterranean, Schatz set out to create a long-lasting architectural statement. "The patterns are subtle and striking on their own, but the complete collection is fresh and clean," says Schatz. "There are more than 30 color choices, so the flexibility is compelling." granadatile.com

Fluid curves combine with fabric and leather in the 570 Gender chair and ottoman by Patricia Urquiola for Cassina. The chair features a reclining back that will resume position once pressure is no longer applied, and is available in five different color combinations. "We don't really talk about the 'gender' aspect with Patricia," says Gianluca Armento, Cassina's director. "We simply represent harmony and progress." Available at Cassina by Diva Group in Los Angeles and at select Cassina showrooms worldwide. divafurniture.com, cassina.com —Miranda Agee